

Personal Information Collection Statement

Agios Education ('Agios Education/we/us') is bound by the Australia Privacy Principles under the Privacy Act 1988 and other relevant laws about how private health service providers handle personal information. Agios Education is committed to complying with all applicable privacy laws which govern how Agios Education will collect, store, use and disclose your personal information.

This Collection Statement and the Agios Education Privacy Policy set out the way in which Agios Education will handle your personal information. The Agios Education Privacy Policy also sets out the way in which you may seek access to or correct information that we hold about you.

You are providing your personal information to us for the primary purpose of expressing your interest or registering your attendance for a GP Education Session ('Event') hosted by Agios Education. Agios Education will retain your personal information for future use in accordance with this Collection Statement.

You may refuse to provide your personal information; however, this may limit the ability of Agios Education to communicate with you regarding your attendance at the Event.

You agree that Agios Education may use or disclose your personal information for the primary purpose, pursuant to the Agios Education Privacy Policy or for any related secondary purpose including:

- Reporting your attendance at Agios Education teaching events to the Royal Australasian College of General Practitioners ('RACGP') in regard to continuing professional development ('CPD') accredited activities.
- Storing your attendance records for RACGP CPD auditing purposes.
- Providing you with a certificate of attendance for Agios Education teaching events,
- Providing you with information about other events that may be of interest to you,
- Providing you with general information about Agios Education relevant to your profession,
- Collection of statistics relating to the provision of Events by Agios Education; and
- Meeting Agios Education business objectives including internal reporting obligations.

You may opt out of Agios Education communications at any time by emailing info@agioseducation.com.au.

By proceeding with your registration for the Event, you agree to the terms of this Collection Statement.

If you have any queries or concerns regarding Agios Education's collection of your personal information, please contact us on info@agioseducation.com.au